Teachers Association Reorganized.

The teachers met at the close of the institute on the 23rd and reorganized the Barton County Teachers' association. The meeting was called to order by County Superintendent McKinney. S. C. Emley was made chairman of the meeting and E. S. Murphy secretary. Election of officers was the first business considered. The officers elected were: President, Prof. C. M. Lockart, Ellinwood; vice presidents, Miss Hege, Clafin, and S. C. Emley, Hoisington; secretary, Miss Swartz, Great Bend; assistant secretary, Miss Reouck, Ellinwood; the secretary was authorized to act as treasurer; program committee, to be appointed later by the county superintendent. The program committee was authorized to make the programs for a year in advance and to publish the same in pamphlet form, together with school statistics, and distribute among the teachers of the county. It was decided to start a paper in the interest of Barton county schools and teachers, to be published under the auspices of the association.

Rumors were afloat early in the week to the effect that our ball team was about to disband. We are pleased to say, however, that this is not true. The team leave tomorrow for Minneapolis, where they play three games. Next week they play three games at Junction City. If the boys are successful in a majority of these games they can get all the support they need in a series to decide the much mooted state championship. Ben McMullin has gone to the strip and Homer Kackley has taken his position. Billy Frame was released by the association and a new man has been secured to play second.

The Kansas game law as enacted by the Kansas legislature March 11, 1893, makes it unlawful at ANY TIME to catch, kill, shoot, trap or ensnare any partridge, prairie chicken, grouse, quail, pheasant, oriole, meadow lark, redbird, mocking bird or bluebird, and any violation is punishable by a $25 fine and commitment until such fine is paid.

THE HEIZER CREAMERY

An Industry of Great Importance to the Farmer.

What the Institution Is Doing to Show
the Way Out to the Toll-
ing Agriculturist:

When the DEMOCRAT scribe alighted from the Selkirk "limited" express at the village of Heizer the other day he was too late to witness the morning delivery of milk by the 182 patrons of the creamery. We found Superintendent Will Schwier and his gentlemanly assistants, Henry Myers and Chess Nichols, however, as busy as bees looking after the morning's accumulation of lactae fluid, preparatory to making it into an unctuous substance as fine as ever tickled the palate of an epicure.

The creamery building stands but a short distance from the depot; is of frame, about 60x80 feet in size with a stone engine house addition on the north about 20x20. A 15-horse steam engine furnishes the power necessary. The west portion of the building proper is occupied by an ice house of 200 tons capacity and the cold storage plant of the establishment. The upper floors are occupied by the office and the box-making rooms. These rooms are packed to the ceiling with butter tubs and other necessary supplies. The box material is so cut that no sawing or fitting is necessary—they have only to be put together.

The milk is hauled to the creamery in large tin cans and weighed. Each customer has a number and after his milk is weighed a few ounces of the fluid is placed in a hermetically sealed glass jar bearing the number. The fluid sample is kept fresh by adding a solution of corrosive sublimate. At stated intervals these samples are run through an ingeniously constructed tester, which shows to a nicety the amount of butter fat contained in 100 pounds of the milk, and the farmer is paid according to the results of this test. This plan gives each customer an accurate knowledge of what results accrue from certain kinds of feeding and the superiority of high grade stock over the common milch cow, resulting in an improvement of the grade in striving for the highest results in butter fat to the quantity of milk produced.

We shall not attempt to describe the manner in which the milk and cream are separated. Two separators are used at Heizer and the work is so thoroughly done that not the faintest trace of cream is left in the milk. The separator is on the principle of a top, hollow in the center, and the centrifugal action of the fluids in attempting to recede from the center, or axis, of motion divides the denser from the lighter fluid, each finding a separate outlet. Great care is necessary in this operation; the temperature of the milk and the rate of speed being matters of great moment. When we dropped in the separator was running 8,000 revolutions a minute—a speed of five miles a minute.

The cream is permitted to "ripen" after separation and is then churned. The churn is a huge square affair, turning on a pivot and is daily producing about 700 pounds of butter although its capacity is much greater. The butter then goes to a revolving table, where the salt is added and it is thoroughly worked, afterward going into cold storage and then to the molding and packing room, where it is molded into pound bricks, neatly wrapped in parchment paper and is ready for market.

The product of the creamery finds a ready sale, most of it going to Colorado and to Boston. Mr. Schwier tells us they are unable to supply the demand. Everything about the creamery is scrupulously neat, clean and wholesome and presents a most inviting appearance. Mr. Schwier is justly proud of a diploma awarded his product at the World's fair. He certainly ranks among the foremost buttermakers of the land and has succeeded in making the Heizer creamery an institution of which the whole state is proud—known far and wide for the excellence of its product.

The company also have at the present time about 150 head of hogs fattening in the corrals west of the creamery. They thrive upon the skimmed milk, but are being fed grain preparatory to marketing. A steam feed mill is also part of the equipment.

During July the creamery received

275,693 pounds of milk at Heizer and 269,083 pounds at the Albert skimming station, paying therefor, in cash, $2,724.93. The butter made in July aggregated 25,298 pounds.

A skimming station is a branch to a creamery—a point where the milk is collected, skimmed and the product sent to some nearby creamery. The company maintains such a station at Albert and is negotiating for a skimming plant at Bazine, Ness county.

The Heizer creamery is a great boon to the farmers of the west part of the county and we consider the day put in there profitably spent and thank Superintendent Schwier for his courteous treatment; not least of which was a sumptuous midday meal at his cozy home, prepared by his estimable wife, in a manner known only to the best of housewives.

Morrison is full of the subject, whatever he teaches, but he excels in physiology. He goes to the Barnes college, St. Louis, next week to complete a course in medicine, his chosen profession.

The conductor, Prof. W. W. Kilpatrick of Monet, Mo., is up to date. He is pleasant in manner and his ability is beyond question. When he went away he took with him the good will of 120 teachers and left behind an influence that will not cease to be felt in the county.
